2020 ANNUAL REPORT
No one was prepared for what 2020 was going to bring. It was the year of the pivot and a year of extreme uncertainty. In an unprecedented fashion, we closed our doors for two months. Though the world went into lockdown, the Alaska SeaLife Center still had animals to feed, a facility to maintain, and wildlife to rescue and rehabilitate. Life inside the Center still went on but was certainly different. When we closed our doors in the spring of 2020, we were faced with our greatest challenge to date—survival.

We launched a major fundraising campaign on July 13, 2020, and the contributions far exceeded our expectations, securing financial stability for the ASLC through the summer of 2021. Individuals, businesses, and foundations stepped up in the grandest way possible, and we won’t ever be able to say thank you enough.

Throughout 2020, we found it important to celebrate any success that came our way, big or small. One of our successes was the birth of Mist, a female Steller sea lion born to parents Pilot and Mara. Another success was our Wildlife Response Program, which relied on volunteers for what would be a very busy stranding season. The team successfully rescued, rehabilitated, and released six seals back into the wild. Five of these seals were released at the same time, and place, something never done at the Center before.

If we had a theme for 2020, it would be resiliency. Staff pulled together by cross training, minimizing costs, and providing emotional support to each other to get us through uncertain times. I couldn’t be prouder of this team. And we were awestruck by the support of the people of Alaska. Upon reopening, we were overjoyed to see Alaskans visit us more than ever.

Looking back, I realize we began and ended 2020 the same way: hopeful. In 2020, we were hopeful for a prosperous and productive year. As we begin 2021, we are hopeful that the anticipated new normal will bring great opportunities to further our mission. The Alaska SeaLife Center remains committed to promoting understanding and stewardship of Alaska’s marine ecosystems by generating and sharing scientific knowledge. On behalf of the board, staff, volunteers, and members of the Alaska SeaLife Center, I thank you for your support of the Alaska SeaLife Center now more than ever.

Tara L. Riemer, Ph.D.

2020 Highlights

COVID-19

Definitely one of the most noteworthy events of 2020 was the COVID-19 pandemic. On March 16, 2020, the Alaska SeaLife Center closed its doors for two months as the country went into lockdown. While some staff worked from home, other staff ramped up safety precautions, split into teams working alternate days, and continued their important work caring for our animals.

ALASKA MARINE GALA

The Alaska Marine Gala was one of the last “normal” events for the Alaska SeaLife Center before the pandemic hit. Conservationist and speaker Stephanie Arne helped us host over 700 guests on February 8, 2020, at the Dena’ina Center in Anchorage for this record-breaking fundraiser, raising over $250,000.
EDUCATION PIVOT

When COVID hit, ASLC’s Education Department changed overnight as the country went into lockdown. In-person education programs were cancelled, so the education staff went virtual. The Department immediately got to work providing free virtual content for viewers to watch at home. They provided tours of the facility, conducted live Q&A sessions, and livestreamed views of animals alongside soothing music, all to help provide content to our followers who were unexpectedly confined to their homes. In October, the team launched a fee-based Virtual Visit program, a twice-a-week program with changing topics like Seabird Superpowers, Awesome Aquarium Animals, and Mighty Marine Mammals.

ALASKA ANIMAL RESCUE

On April 22, 2020, Nat Geo WILD premiered a six-episode series featuring ASLC alongside two other Alaskan animal care facilities as they cared for animals in need. ASLC was also included in filming during 2020 for a second season set to debut in the spring of 2021.
WILDLIFE RESPONSE

It was a record breaking year for the Wildlife Response Program, which rescued, rehabilitated, and released six harbor seals this summer. One seal was released in Juneau on August 20, and the other five seals were released at the same time in Kenai on August 27! Additionally, we admitted one ringed seal and five sea otters into the program. While the ringed seal and one otter did not survive due to health complications, one otter was released, one was transported to SeaWorld San Diego, and two are currently in our care at the Center.

ZIPPY

One of our most unique wildlife responses of the year was an adult male sea otter we named “Zippy.” Zippy was spotted in the spring of 2020 in Resurrection Bay with a plastic zip tie embedded around his paw. After months of observing Zippy near Seward, he was brought into the Center in June with a serious bone infection from the zip tie. After extensive care by our veterinary team, Zippy was released back into the Bay in July. He has been spotted several times and appears to be thriving. We share this compelling story not only because it was an amazing success for our Wildlife Response Program, but also to emphasize the importance of being responsible stewards of Alaska’s oceans by reducing and properly disposing of plastic waste.
The Chiswell Project, funded by grants from NOAA entitled, “Long-Term Monitoring of Trends in Steller Sea Lion Behavior, Diet, Vital Rates, and Demography within the Endangered, Western Distinct Population Segment,” is now in its 23rd year. This project is not only ASLC’s longest ongoing research study, but is also overseen by the longest working cohesive team, John Maniscalco and Pamela Parker, who have been working together on this research for more than 20 years. Over the past two decades, this project has trained more than 50 interns and early career scientists. Data associated with this study from both remote video observations and sampling of neonatal pups has contributed to three Bachelor’s Honors Theses, six Master’s Theses, and two Ph.D. Theses. To date, a total of 24 peer-reviewed scientific publications have been produced by data collected on this project. Seabird-related remote monitoring studies have also spun off from this work, supporting one Master’s Thesis.

We welcomed our newest Steller sea lion, a baby girl named Mist, in June 2020. Proud parents are ASLC residents Mara and Pilot. We were able to offer a specialized tour to see Mist and mom Mara up close for a limited time in the summer. Mist is a playful, independent pup who loves interacting with guests in our underwater viewing area.

Alaska SeaLife Legacy Society

Your Legacy Is Our Future

You can be a part of the Alaska SeaLife Center’s critical work by leaving a gift through your estate plans. A planned gift allows you to support our mission after your lifetime so future generations can enjoy the wonder of Alaska’s ocean. Anyone, regardless of age or financial status, can create a legacy gift to the Alaska SeaLife Center.

How to Make a Planned Gift

A planned gift can be as simple as naming the Alaska SeaLife Center in your will or designating the Center as a beneficiary on your retirement plan or life insurance policy. The Alaska SeaLife Center Endowment Fund, established through the Alaska Community Foundation, enables additional options for planned gifts through the Foundation’s unique expertise.

Benefits of Planned Giving

When you notify us about your gift, we will enroll you in the Alaska SeaLife Legacy Society. You will receive invitations to special events and be recognized in our annual report and e-newsletters, unless you choose to remain anonymous. All communications you have with our staff about planned giving is strictly confidential.

We are grateful to those who support the Alaska SeaLife Center through planned giving. Through your gift, you are ensuring that future generations will learn about and care for Alaska’s oceans. To learn more about how to enroll in the Legacy Society, please contact our Development Office at 907-224-6396 or development@alaskasealife.org.
Mission Statement

The Alaska SeaLife Center generates and shares scientific knowledge to promote understanding and stewardship of Alaska’s marine ecosystems.
